“Allegory and Glory variant 14”, an alternative Australian national flag design

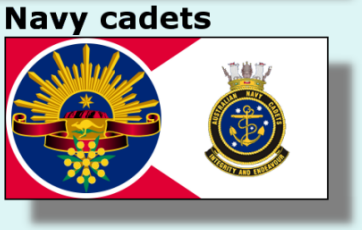
(with suggested adaptations of the design to the other major flags and ensigns of the nation)

Army

Navy ships

Air Force

Navy cadets



Government ships

Civil & merchant ships

Civil aviation

Border Force

Victoria

Governor of Victoria

Typical governor flag

Queensland

New South Wales

South Australia

Western Australia

Tasmania

Upper Murray River

Lower Murray River

Police,Fire,Rescue,Amb

United Nations

See this flag waving. See it in all wind conditions. See many more alternative Australian flag designs at australian.flagalternatives.com.

The golden sunburst pattern in the hoist area is based on the ‘Rising Sun’ slouch hat badge of the Australian Army. Here the British crown that is at the centre of the original badge has been replaced with a depiction of Uluṟu, the iconic sandstone outcropping that is the allegorical heart of Australia, along with a kangaroo and a Federation Star. Additionally the scroll of the original badge has been replaced by one with inlays of red-to-black colour gradients. Beneath the scroll is a bouquet of golden wattle, its sixteen blossoms representing all of the states and territories of the Commonwealth. The colours in the design are graphic near-equivalents of the official Pantone values for the red and blue in the current national flag, the ochre in the Flag of the Northern Territory, and the green and gold that are the nation’s national colours. The fly area can readily accommodate the blue field and the white stars of the traditional Australian-style Southern Cross, as well as the various field colours and patterns of all of the other flags and ensigns of the nation, as shown above. The illustration to the right shows how the design can be adapted into vertical ‘banners’, as well as into palls, including those for all of Australia’s Defence Forces.